Acquired skill, talent, or gift? I'm convinced that visionary business leaders and managers who experience success have a combination of all three. I also know that they believe in the mission, are committed to success, and constantly work on professional self-improvement. But they do not reach their goals without using a dynamic business-enhancement tool set. That's where Xpect Results comes into the mix. We help them to develop and expand their vision through expert consulting, coaching, and training tools.
